HOW IMPORTANT IS ESTATE PLANNING?

Estate Planning helps protect your children's needs.

Estate Planning can properly distribute your hard-earned assets and savings.

Estate Planning saves your family from future burdens.

Protect Your Kids

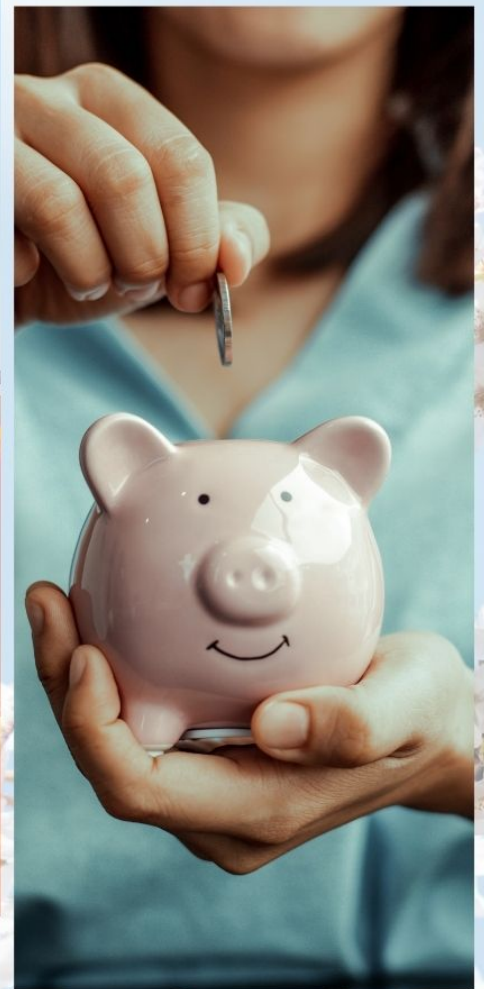

If you have children, your priority is their future. Having a Will and Trust ensures that your children are secured no matter what happens.

Children with special needs will benefit the most from their parents' estate plan.

Yes or No?

Getting a Will and Trust

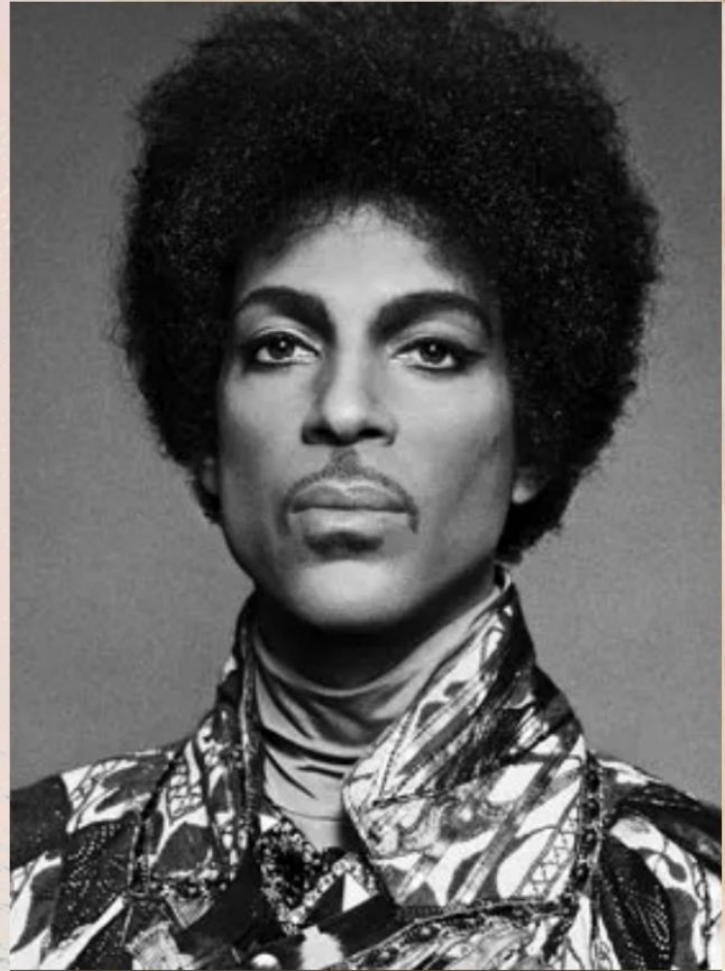

With rare exceptions, probate files are open to the public and excluded heirs are encouraged to come forward and seek a share of your estate. In short, the court system, not your family, controls the process.

Had fame but not an estate plan

Since the actor passed away without a will, the court has decided that his estate will be divided for his six (6) siblings who could not agree on a distribution plan and frequently ended up in court.

This real-life scenario proves that not having a will simply means that your assets will automatically go to your next of kin is NOT TRUE.

Debunking Myths on Estate Planning

Procrastinating won't secure your loved ones' future.

Assets you worked hard for must be protected at all cost. It is not true that your assets will be automatically granted to your loved ones in case something happens to you- something we can never predict. This is why having an estate plan is highly critical and necessary.

Estate Planning is not only for the rich and famous.

An estate plan is applicable to ANYONE who wants to secure their hard-earned properties, savings, and even protect their medical and financial decisions by assigning a person they trust to take over during unfortunate events.

Estate Planning? Wills? Trust?

Attorney Farrah has been helping families, professionals, and even undocumented immigrants prepare for the worse by ensuring their loved ones are secured and protected through estate planning.
